

ANTI-MODERN SLAVERY POLICYAnti-Modern Slavery Policy of Canadian Solar Inc. (the “Company”) and its Subsidiary Entities

Modern slavery is a crime and a violation of fundamental human rights. It takes various forms, such as involuntary servitude, forced labour, debt bondage, and human trafficking. Whether affecting adults or children, all forms of slavery involve the deprivation of a person's liberty in order to exploit him or her for personal or commercial gain.

Canadian Solar Inc., together with its subsidiary entities (“Canadian Solar”), is committed to complying with anti-slavery laws and regulations in every jurisdiction in which it conducts business, including compliance with disclosure obligations under applicable legislation, and to acting ethically and with integrity in all its business dealings and relationships. Consequently, Canadian Solar is committed to ensuring that modern slavery does not take place anywhere in its business, including through its supply chain.

The prevention of modern slavery, and the detection and reporting of modern slavery should it occur in any part of Canadian Solar's business or business relationships, is the responsibility of every person working for Canadian Solar, including its employees, seconded workers, directors, officers, volunteers, interns, agents, and representatives. All such persons must avoid any activity that might constitute or result in a breach of this Policy, and all such persons are expected to report any violation of this Policy should one arise.

Canadian Solar expects its third-party supplier, contractors and other business partners to similarly act to prevent modern slavery. As part of its contracting process, Canadian Solar communicates this Policy to all of its third-party suppliers, contractors and other business partners, and requires compliance with anti-slavery laws and regulations. Canadian Solar expects its business partners to share its strong commitment to combatting modern slavery and to conduct its business accordingly.

Canadian Solar will not tolerate any parties directly or indirectly engaging in modern slavery. Any employee who breaches this Policy will face disciplinary action, which could result in dismissal and legal action. Any third party that breaches this Policy may have its relationship with Canadian Solar terminated and face legal action.

This Policy does not form part of any employee's contract of employment and Canadian Solar may amend it at any time.

Any person who suspects that a violation of this Policy has or may have occurred (or may occur in the future) is expected to notify his or her direct manager, Canadian Solar's Legal Department, and Canadian Solar's Corporate Compliance Office. Any person that is not comfortable notifying any of the foregoing parties should report the suspected breach (or risk of breach) through Canadian Solar's Whistleblower hotline by phone (+1 519 823 7477) or by e-mail (whistleblower@canadiansolar.com). Such notifications will be managed in accordance with Canadian Solar's Whistleblower Policy, which is available online at www.canadiansolar.com.

Canadian Solar encourages feedback regarding actual or potential violations of this Policy, and will support any report of a genuine concern made in good faith, even if the report turns out to be mistaken. Canadian Solar is committed to ensuring no one suffers detrimental treatment (including dismissal, disciplinary action, threats or other unfavourable treatment) as a result of reporting in good faith his or her suspicion that modern slavery of any form is or may be taking place in any part of Canadian Solar's business or the business of Canadian Solar's partners.
